Behold the night, the stars in the sky
The moon shining bright
The look in your eye.

Behold the night, for the night is with you
In the things that you say
In the things that you do.

Behold the night, and the beauty within
The heat of the moment
The passionate sin.

Behold the night, for the night is still young
The trials we've tried
The races we've run.

Behold the night, the wine and the song . . .
Behold the night, for the night is so long!
